KUSD PRESENTS 53rd ANNUAL ORCHESTRA FESTIVAL

KENOSHA, Wis. (Friday, March 6, 2015) – Kenosha Unified School District’s 53rd Annual Orchestra Festival will be presented on Saturday, March 21 at 7 p.m. in the Indian Trail High School and Academy field house. The event will feature performances by more than 1,200 elementary, middle, high and charter school students.

This year’s guest conductor is Susan Chandler, a faculty member at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater where she teaches string pedagogy, string techniques and multiple music education methods courses. She is also a master level adjudicator for the Wisconsin Music School Association and a frequent guest clinician with school orchestras throughout southeastern Wisconsin.

Participating schools and their directors are; Heather Kamikawa, Bradford High School; Allison Millsaps, Brompton School; Serena Terra, Bullen Middle School; Marra Scheil, Dimensions of Learning Academy; David Kotlewski, Harborside Academy; Keith Robinson, Indian Trail High School and Academy; Robert Wells, Kenosha School of Technology Enhanced Curriculum; Lindsay Pytel, Lance Middle School; Jennifer Marvin, Lincoln Middle School; Lorikaye Kristiansen, Mahone Middle School; Helen Breitenbach, Tremper High School; Todd DeBoer, Washington Middle School and Elizabeth Tercek, elementary orchestra.

Tickets are available online at www.kusd.edu/finearts and include field house seating ($6-7) and live video feed seating in the auditorium ($3). The performance also will be streamed live on Channel 20. This event has a history of selling out in advance.
